Armacost Library Computer Use Policy

The Armacost Library provides computer workstations as part of the library’s mission “to support the teaching, research and learning goals of the University community by providing access to information resources in various formats and by promoting lifelong learning skills to identify, find, evaluate, use and communicate information that reflects a commitment to academic rigor and a better understanding of our world”.

The library computers are available to all current University of Redlands students, faculty, administrators, and staff for educational, informational and research purposes. A laptop dedicated to searching the Armacost Library catalog can be found on both the second and third floor.

A computer workstation designated specifically for guests is also available and a staff member will provide access. There is a 30-minute limit for computer usage. Printing cards may be purchased from the vending machine on the 1st floor of the library building or at the Front Desk.

Due to licensing agreements, guests do not have access to some subscription databases.

Access to information and resources in the library is a privilege and the use of these resources must be in a manner consistent with the University policies, procedures, and codes of conduct.
